RECOMMENDED

Andreas Friess

Old and young souls meet in the Abendsonne retirement home - the starting point for a not unfunny attempt at rebirth. The sirene opera theater transforms this setting into a tragicomedy of survival in which everyday routines suddenly tip over into the absurd. The music is by Tomasz Skweres, who underscores the scenic borderline between comedy and seriousness with a relaxed, humorous tone. A "chamber opera in a retirement home" that opens up surprising perspectives on life, old age and new beginnings.

Please note that theatre performances are in German language if not described otherwise.
